Date

The degree plan is the responsibility of the student, in conjunction with the faculty advisor. Students are responsible for understanding the undergraduate catalog and the degree plan. At least one year or two full semesters prior to the anticipated graduation date, students should file an Application for Degree Candidacy and pay the fee for graduation in the Office of the Registrar. BFA students MUST be advised by the faculty member teaching in their major area in advance of registration.

SUBMISSION OF BFA DEGREE PLAN

After earning 45 credit hours, you will 1) review your BFA degree plan with your advisor, 2) secure the required signatures listed above, 3) submit the completed and signed degree plan to the department secretary who will file the original form with the Office of the Registrar and place a copy of the original signed document in your advising file.

JUNIOR PORTFOLIO REVIEW

The Junior Portfolio Review is a standard practice in most colleges and universities throughout the nation offering BFA degrees in Studio Art. After earning 60 credit hours and fulfilling other specific criteria, you will participate in a junior portfolio review. Detailed instructions are given in an annual information session.

PREPARING FOR SENIOR EXHIBITION

All BFA students must show their work in a Senior Exhibition.

When you have earned between 60 to 90 credit hours, you must develop an individual focus and direction within your studio major and minor areas. In advance of your senior year and before enrolling in the Senior Exhibition course, you must also consciously initiate a unique body of work. Consult your instructors and advisor regarding the direction of your work. Ask them to work with you beyond assignment-based studio activities.
