IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Bradley Wilson, Assistant Professor of Mass Communication, received the Edith Fox King Award from the Interscholastic League Press Conference at that group's annual conference April 22. Jeanne Acton, ILPC director, told the group at the awards dinner, "The Edith Fox King Award is particularly gratifying because you were nominated by colleagues who value your contribution to scholastic journalism." Four individuals this year received the award in recognition of distinguished contributions and outstanding devotion to scholastic journalism education in Texas.

Vicki Sanders MSRS, RRA, RT(R)(CV), Associate Professor in Radiologic Sciences, attended the 18th Annual Society of Radiology Physician Extenders (SRPE) in Las Vegas, Nevada, on April 5-9. Sanders is the President of the SRPE and was a backup presenter of "Diagnosing Historical Maladies in the Present Day."

MSRS Radiologist Assistant (RA) Program's students Clayton Reece Burgoon and William Bryan entered posters in the poster competition. Bryan won the Radiology Physician Extender category and $150. MSU won the President's Award for the highest average points of the Radiologist Assistant Programs entered in the competition. The MSU RA students also entered their posters in the Celebration of Scholarship. Burgoon won Graduate Poster Champion and Bryan won Graduate Poster Honorable Mention.

Dr. Ann Marie Leimer's essay "Vidrio y hilo: Two Stories of the Border" has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Latino-Latin American Studies (JOLLAS), University of Omaha, Nebraska, in a special issue on the Art of the Latinx Diaspora.
