IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Nathan Jun, Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Philosophy Program, presented a paper titled "The Anti-Anarchist Turn: A Reply to Simon Choat" at the Northeastern Political Science Associate Conference in Philadelphia on November 9.

Darla Inghish, Linda Knox, and Jamie Wilson attended the Texas Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (TACRAO) conference November 5-8. Inghish was serving TACRAO in 2017 as Immediate Past President and presented "An Eyeball, an Elbow, a Hand, and an Iron," and co-presented "Pointers from Past Presidents," which were both sessions regarding professional development for those newer to the profession. Knox had served as the 2017 Chair for the Management, Organization and Professional Development Session Committee, which proposed sessions for the conference. Wilson served on the 2017 Certification and Legal Session Committee, which proposed sessions for the conference, and she served as facilitator for the Advanced State Reporting session. Inghish and Wilson both served as mentors for newcomers and first-time attendees.

Andrew J. Allen, Assistant Professor of Music, had an article published in the November 2017 issue of The Instrumentalist. It is titled "What Students Need to Know About Practicing."

Sally Henschel, Assistant Professor of English, presented "The Methods We Employ: A Ten-Year Review of Research Methods in Technical & Professional Communication Journals" at the recent Rocky Mountain Modern Language Association (RMMLA) in Spokane, Wash.
