Social Media Day

The third annual MSU Texas Social Media Day will be Monday, October 1. Designed as a series of short, 30-minute discussions on the how-to and why-to of various aspects of social media, the day will include a speaker from PolitiFact—Allison Graves—who will discuss how to fact-check social media. Other speakers include local individuals talking about everything from analyzing success in social media to how to utilize Facebook Live. The event is sponsored by the Department of Mass Communication and the Division of Student Affairs. Events will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Legacy Multipurpose Room. There is no charge for any of the events and no pre-registration is required. For more information, call ext. 4670 or visit the MSU Social Media Day webpage.

Faculty Forum: Dr. David Carlston

The Faculty Forum will present Dr. David Carlton, Professor of Psychology and this year's Hardin Professor, at 7 p.m. Monday, October 1, in Legacy Multipurpose Room. Carlston's topic will be "Motivational Interviewing: A Framework for Inspiring Change." Hardin Professor is the highest honor bestowed on MSU professors. Admission is free and open to all. For more information, contact Dr. Jon Price at jonathan.price@msutexas.edu or call ext. 4288.

¡Conectémonos! Professional Networking Lunch

As part of Hispanic Heritage Month, students are invited to with connect with local professionals and peers over lunch to improve their networking skills and to discuss identity expression in the workplace. The networking luncheon will be from 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m. Tuesday, October 2, in Legacy Multipurpose Room. RSVP is required and seating is limited. The event is sponsored by Student Transition Services and the Office for Equity, Inclusion and Multicultural Affairs.

i.d.e.a.WF 2018

The keynote speaker for this year's i.d.e.a.WF luncheon is Tommy Van Wolfe, Vice President of Corporate Restaurants for Raising Cane's Chicken Fingers. Van Wolfe will share how Raising Cane's gives back by supporting the community and improving the lives of those who make the company so successful. To date, Raising Cane's has donated more than 25% of its profits back to the communities where its restaurants operate, with an emphasis on schools, food banks, active lifestyles, canine assistance, and business and entrepreneurship organizations.

The judges have selected six outstanding finalists for i.d.e.a.WF 2018:

Artist-Lecture Series: Bill Strickland

The Artist-Lecture Series will present motivational speaker Bill Strickland at 7 p.m. Wednesday, October 3, in Akin Auditorium. After growing up in Pittsburgh's inner city, Strickland founded a jobs training center and community arts program to give disadvantaged kids and adults opportunities for a better future. He is the author of Make the Impossible Possible. He also founded the Grammy-winning MCG Jazz, an organization to preserve, present, and promote jazz. It presents concerts, workshops, and recordings to strengthen the jazz community. Admission is $20 to general public; $18 for senior citizens, active-duty military, and MSU alumni; free to MSU students, faculty, and staff with ID. Tickets are available at the Clark Student Center Information Desk. For tickets or more information, contact the Office of Student Affairs at ext. 7400 or student.affairs@msutexas.edu.

Speakers & Issues Series: Amanda Danning

Nationally known artist and forensic sculptor, Amanda Danning puts faces on our long dead history and tells tales which have been written in bone with her presentation of "Skeletons in My Closet" at 7 p.m. Thursday, October 4, at the Wichita Falls Museum of Art as part of the University's Speakers & Issues Series.

Danning gained international recognition as a forensic sculptor. She has achieved this recognition, in part, through her consulting work with the Smithsonian Institute on several occasions. Her facial reconstructions have been the subjects of exhibits at the National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C., the National Buffalo Soldier Museum, and the Bullock Texas State History Museum. Her work has also been displayed on programs shown on the History Channel and the National Geographic Channel. Since 2010, Danning's work has been featured in several books including on the cover of Douglas W. Owsley and Richard L. Jantz's Kennewick Man: The Scientific Investigation of an Ancient American Skeleton. With more than 20 years of professional experience and an advanced degree in sculpture, Danning has more than a hundred portraits in museums across the nation.

She has gained extensive experience in the museum industry working as a designer, fabricator, and exhibit director. For more information, call Sally Henschel at ext. 4731.
