CAMPUS NEWS

Leimer co-editor of book on artist Jimenez Underwood

Chicana artist Consuelo Jimenez Underwood's body of work is considered essential to the study of Chicana art history. Her work is now the subject of a new anthology published by Duke University Press and co-edited by Ann Marie Leimer, professor of Art in the Harvey School of Visual Arts at MSU Texas, and Laura E. Pérez, professor of Chicana and Latinx Studies and chair of the Latinx Research Center at the University of California, Berkeley. Read the full story in the MSU Texas news.

Wilson appointed CMR editor-in-chief

Associate Professor of Mass Communication Bradley Wilson has been appointed as the new editor-in-chief of College Media Review, the College Media Association's longstanding publication for research and news about the world of college media. College Media Review provides data and research to advisers and educators who need it while also giving members a place to get their work published. Read the full story in the MSU Texas news.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Frank B. Wyatt, Professor in the Department of Athletic Training & Exercise Physiology, published an abstract from a National Conference Proceedings in the August 2022 Journal of Exercise Physiology. The title of the abstract and presentation was "Meta-Analysis: A Timely Research Design."

Facilities Services Star Awards

Star Award recipients in July were Brian Talcott, painting foreperson; and Steven Fisher, painter. Star Awards recognize Facilities Services employees who take pride in their work and give outstanding service to the campus. These employees are recognized with a certificate posted in their work space as well as a unique copper mustang cut-out that can be displayed on desks and/or in the Daniel Building front office.

This past year has been an extra busy one for the painters. They were assigned numerous tasks associated with the recent renovation of Memorial Hall, and they had to squeeze in as much summer street painting as possible. With the changing of the Presidents, they have had to take care of six years of delayed maintenance items at Sikes House which resulted in over 2-1/2 months of "extra" work for Brian and Steven. They have also had to handle the normal summertime increase in requests for work to be done while students are gone or in preparation for the arrival of new faculty. To add to their responsibilities, the Facilities staff has been performing building audits which typically generate dozens of hours of paint work each month. These additional tasks have increased their normal backlog of work orders from approximately 30 to 90, causing them often to be painting to make a deadline.

The painters have also been starting work at 4 a.m. for street painting. In a normal summer this only lasts for a month, but due to all the additional work they have been keeping this schedule for the past two months and are likely to do it for several more weeks.

We are thankful for our dedicated painters.
