CAMPUS NEWS

Luttrell named Bice Faculty Support Grant recipient
Associate Professor of Music Matthew Luttrell was named the recipient of the 2022-2023 Bice Faculty Support Grant, a sabbatical program that allows a faculty member of the Lamar D. Fain College of Fine Arts or the Prothro-Yeager College of Humanities and Social Sciences to spend time at retired physician Dr. Paul Bice’s Hawaii home. Luttrell will study the nature and prevalence of Hawaiian rhythms, melodies, and harmonic textures for use in classical music. He will perform a new work for symphony orchestra using traditional Hawaiian instruments, folk tunes, and musical elements. The grant was created as an opportunity to support faculty’s work in the arts, humanities, and social sciences to enhance research, artistic endeavors, performance, and teaching and is made possible through Bice’s generosity.

Ziegler recipient of Carnes Creative Fellowship
Associate Professor of History Tiffany Ziegler has been named the 2022-2023 recipient of the Jane Spears Carnes Faculty Fellowship in Creative Endeavors. Ziegler will travel to Brussels to continue her research on medieval women, particularly the sisters, and their role in medieval hospital care. She plans to complete the majority of the draft of a manuscript of a monograph, The Hospital Sisters: Gender, Power, and Communities of Care in Medieval Brussels.

The fellowship, made possible by a gift from Carnes, is a support grant which rewards and refreshes faculty in creative fields so they might take a semester off from teaching to enhance their research, artistic endeavors, and teaching. It supports faculty activities and their replacement in the classroom for one semester.

Zoet named TCCA Counselor of the Year
Zach Zoet, the assistant director at Midwestern State University’s Counseling Center, was recently named the Texas College Counseling Association Outstanding Counselor of the Year. Read more about Zoet’s honor in the MSU Texas news.

Student documentary recognized

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

On Jan. 4-7, two faculty members, seven graduate students, and three undergraduate students presented at the Phi Alpha Theta Biennial Meeting in Albuquerque, New Mexico. John Ashbrook, chair and associate professor of history, presented “Changing Politics, Changing Identities: Dalmatian Regionalism and Nationalism in the 19th and 20th Centuries” while Assistant Professor of History P. Mike Rattansengchanh presented “Those Who Remain: A Look at Lao-Americans in the LDS Church.”

Undergraduate students presenting were Yannilson Bowers, “The Easter Rising of 1916”; Rachel Patterson, “Removing George Washington from the Moral Pedestal: A Reevaluation of the Myths and Legends Surrounding the First President”; and Faith Reeves, “The Salem Witch Hysteria.”

Erica Judie, assistant professor of respiratory care, has been accepted into the 2023 Texas Association of Chicanos in Higher Education Leadership Development Institute. The professional development opportunity will be Feb. 22 in Houston.

The Resource Handbook for Academic Deans was published in January 2023 by Johns Hopkins University Press and includes a chapter by Marcy Brown Marsden, interim provost and vice president of academic affairs. The chapter, titled “Understanding Higher Education Policy in Order to Manage Risk and Achieve Equity,” describes how academic leaders can identify, administer, revise, and create policy, with special emphasis on policy and crisis management and diversity, equity, and inclusion. The handbook is available at https://www.press.jhu.edu/books/title/12667/resource-handbook-academic-deans.
