Dear Colleague:

Education has long been recognized as the great equalizer in America. The U.S. Department of Education and its Office for Civil Rights (OCR) believe that providing all students with an educational environment free from discrimination is extremely important. The sexual harassment of students, including sexual violence, interferes with students' right to receive an education free from discrimination and, in the case of sexual violence, is a crime.

Questions and Answers on Title IX and Sexual Violence¹

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (“Title IX”)² is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in federally funded education programs and activities. All public and private elementary and secondary schools, school districts, colleges, and universities receiving any federal financial assistance (hereinafter “schools”, “recipients”, or “recipient institutions”) must comply with Title IX.³

On April 4, 2011, the Office for Civil Rights (OCR) in the U.S. Department of Education issued a Dear Colleague Letter on student-on-student sexual harassment and sexual violence (“DCL”).⁴ The DCL explains a school’s responsibility to respond promptly and effectively to sexual violence against students in accordance with the requirements of Title IX.⁵ Specifically, the DCL:

- Provides guidance on the unique concerns that arise in sexual violence cases, such as a school’s independent responsibility under Title IX to investigate (apart from any separate criminal investigation by local police) and address sexual violence.

Backlash to Enforcement: Increasing Respondent Litigation

From 2011-2013, estimated 32 percent of Title IX lawsuits against institutions filed by respondents/accused.

United Educators Report, Confronting Campus Sexual Assault (January, 2015).

From 2013-2014, estimated 76 percent of Title IX lawsuits filed by respondents/accused.

NACUA Notes, VI, No. 4 (May 18, 2016).

Backlash: Increasing Respondent Advocacy

Growth of advocacy respondent rights groups:

- FIRE - Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (1999)
- SAVE – Stop Abusive and Violent Environments (2010)
- FACE – Families Advocating for Campus Equality (2013)
- Save Our Sons (approx. 2014)

Criticism from Within Campuses

5/16/16: Letter from 21 Distinguished Law Professors from across the country criticizing 2011 DCL and other guidance.

- “As a result, free speech and due process on campus are now imperiled.”

9/1/17: Four female Harvard Law School professors write letter in opposition to 2011 DCL:

- “These policies have meant that accused students have, on many occasions, been subjected to a process that really does not give them a fair chance to establish what the real facts of the incident were,” Bartholet said.

Title IX Under Trump Administration

Betsy DeVos Speech at George Mason University, September 7, 2017:

- “Here is what I've learned: the truth is that the system established by the prior administration has failed too many students. Survivors, victims of a lack of due process, and campus administrators have all told me that the current approach does a disservice to everyone involved. That's why we must do better, because the current approach isn't working. Washington has burdened schools with increasingly elaborate and confusing guidelines that even lawyers find difficult to understand and navigate. Where does that leave institutions, which are forced to be judge and jury?”

Sept. 2017 OCR Interim Guidance

- OCR withdraws 2011 DCL and 2014 Q&A.
- OCR issues Q&A on Campus Sexual Misconduct for on equitable process.
- Reaffirms 2001 Revised Sexual Harassment Guidance.
- Expresses intent to initiate rulemaking process leading to Title IX regulations.

Focus on Due Process and Rulemaking

DeVos Comments on New Interim Guidance on Campus Sexual Misconduct, September 22, 2017

- “This interim guidance will help schools as they work to combat sexual misconduct and will treat all students fairly,” said DeVos. “Schools must continue to confront these horrific crimes and behaviors head-on. There will be no more sweeping them under the rug. But the process also must be fair and impartial, giving everyone more confidence in its outcomes.”
- “[T]he era of rule by letter is over. The Department of Education will follow the proper legal procedures to craft a new Title IX regulation that better serves students and schools.”

Department of Education Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

- On November 29, 2018, DOE published a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) to amend the Title IX regulations.
- Department received over 100,000 public comments to the proposed regulations.
- Significant debate among universities, victim advocacy groups, and respondent advocacy groups regarding proposed regulations.

DRAFT

May 6, 2020 Final Regulations Issued by DOE

- On May 6, 2020, DOE released long-awaited amended Title IX regulations.
- Amended regulations take effect August 14, 2020.
- DOE expressly declined to extend deadline despite requests from higher ed and lawsuit by 18 states.

What Evidence May Be Introduced at Hearing?

- Only evidence provided by parties to the Investigator during the pre-hearing investigation, and/or identified or included in the Investigative Report may be presented, introduced, or used at the hearing.
- Any new evidence that a party intends to present, introduce, or use must be provided to the Title IX Coordinator at least five (5) days prior to the hearing and to the other party at least three (3) days prior to the hearing.
- Failure to comply will result in new evidence being excluded from consideration.

Direct Examination

Direct examination may be conducted by Hearing Officer or Hearing Panel.

Cross Examination

- Must be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by party's Advisor and never by party personally.
- Only relevant questions may be asked of party or witness.
- For each question, prior to a response, Hearing Officer must first determine whether the question is relevant and explain any decision to exclude a question as not relevant.

Failure to be Subject to Cross Examination

- If party or witness does not submit to cross-examination,
 - Hearing Panel must not rely on any statement of that party or witness in reaching a determination.
- However, if a party or witness does not attend hearing or refuses to answer cross-examination or other questions,
 - Hearing Panel cannot draw an inference regarding responsibility based solely on that absence or refusal to answer.

Excluding Statements If No Cross Examination – OCR Guidance

If a party or witness chooses not to appear or opts not to answer cross-examination questions, the decision-maker merely excludes that party or witness's statements, and evaluates any evidence that does not involve those statements.

Title IX Versus Title VII/State Law – Different Definition of Sexual Harassment

- Title VII defines sexual harassment as “severe or pervasive” not “severe and pervasive.”
- Title VII “knew or should have known” versus “actual knowledge.”
- Title VII vicarious liability for acts of supervisors, no exception when the supervisor is the one engaging in the harassment.

Mandatory Reporting Obligations Apply Regardless

- Employees must report both sexual misconduct, whether defined as Title IX Sexual Misconduct or “sexual misconduct” as defined in Regulation 07.06.B.
- A failure to promptly report is a violation of Texas law.
- A knowingly false report under this regulation is also a violation of Texas law.

Obligation to Address Less Severe Sexual Misconduct

If the sexual misconduct does not fall within the definition under Regulation 07.06.A, the University must assess whether the misconduct meets the definition of sexual misconduct under Regulation 07.06.B.

How Two Policies Interact

Is the alleged conduct severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive?

- No: proceed under Regulation 07.06.B
- Yes: did the alleged conduct occur in an education program or activity?
 - No, proceed under Regulation 07.06.B
 - Yes, proceed under Regulation 07.06.A

Refer to 07.06.A-1 Flowchart*

What About Complaints with Mixed Allegations?

- The University may consolidate complaints arising out of the same facts or circumstances, involving more than one Complainant or more than one Respondent, or that amount to counter-complaints by one party against the other.
- If at any time during a Title IX Sexual Misconduct Grievance Process it is determined that the alleged conduct does not constitute Title IX Sexual Misconduct, the University may proceed under System Regulation 07.06.B or any other applicable policy and procedure.
